ACHIEVING SWACHHATA IN MISSION MODE

Sandip Das

Revived in India as ‘Father of the Nation’, Mahatma Gandhi’s concern for public and private sanitation was part of his satyagraha campaign from the days he spent in South Africa. For Gandhi, the drive for cleanliness in society was an integral part of the process in bringing about a casteless and free society. “Everyone is his own scavenger,” he once said stressing that the need for making cleanliness a personal responsibility was key to removing untouchability.

Gandhi’s call for sanitation came first during the Satyagraha in South Africa. His priority back then was to remove the assertion made by white settlers that Indians lacked hygiene and therefore needed to be kept segregated. In an open letter to the Natal legislative assembly in 1894, Gandhi wrote that Indians too can maintain the same standards of sanitation as Europeans, provided they received the same kind of attention and opportunity. He had emphasised on the need for Indians themselves to take up the matter of cleanliness with vigour and urgency.

The drive for cleanliness in the Gandhian movement grew stronger after the open-cooperation struggle of the early 1920s. By that time, Gandhi’s call for sanitation was firmly embedded in two separate movements - the struggle for independence and the need for removing untouchability. Emphasising on the close connection between cleanliness and Swaraj, Gandhi asked Indians to learn from the West the art of municipal sanitation and modify it to suit our own specific needs. He maintained that open defecation should only be done in a secluded spot in a hole dug in the ground and cesspools should be used in the latrines.

“Swaraj can only be had by clean, brave people,” wrote Gandhi in an article titled ‘Our Insanitation’ in 1925. Gandhi had stated that sanitation is more important than independence. He advocated that cleanliness is most important for physical well-being and a healthy environment and that it was essential for everyone to learn about cleanliness, hygiene, sanitation and the various diseases that were caused due to poor hygienic conditions. Mahatma Gandhi said, “I will not let anyone walk through my mind with their dirty feet.”

In the post-independence phase, health and sanitation aspects found mention in the five-year plans. In 1954, the rural sanitation programme in India was introduced as a part of the First Five Year Plan. However, these provisions did not result in improving sanitation conditions across the country. No separate funds were allocated for construction and repair of toilets, thus sanitation facilities remained a cause of worry. The 1981 Census revealed rural sanitation coverage was only around 1%.

The lack of sanitation was identified as a leading cause of diarrhoea among children (under 5 years) resulting in stunting among children and also resulted in several preventable child deaths. Sanitation is also a critical aspect for ensuring safety and dignity for women. In 1986, the Central Rural

CHANGING MEDIA LANDSCAPE AND EMERGING OPPORTUNITIES IN DIGITAL MEDIA

Dr. Rajesh Kumar

Media and entertainment is one of the fastest growing industries globally. The sector has come a long way from print and electronic to the digital media and plays a pivotal role in building the socio-political, economic and cultural fabric of any country. The media and entertainment industry has had tremendous impact on the lives of people and its definition and scope keep on changing due to the fast and ever-changing information and communication technologies scenario.

Media and entertainment industry has witnessed a sea change in the era of digital revolution. The advent of digital technology has widened the horizons and has integrated all forms of media and entertainment into one platform. And it is reaching every nook and corner of the country at a very fast pace.

According to a report published by the Federation of Indian Chambers of Commerce and Industry (FICCI) in collaboration with Ernst & Young Private Limited (EY), the Indian media and entertainment (M&E) sector was estimated at Rs 1.73 trillion in 2021 which is projected to reach at Rs 2.23 trillion by 2023 due to digital penetration among users across geographies. The role of digital penetration depends on access to the internet which has had tremendous growth in India in recent years.

According to Telecom Regulatory Authority of India (TRAI), Govt. of India, the total number of internet users in the country had reached 825.30 million at the end of March 2021. At present, India has the second largest internet users in the world after China according to Internet World Stats. It is pertinent to note that the Digital India Program launched by the Department of Electronics and Information Technology, Ministry of Communications and Information Technology, Government of India, has given a significant boost to digital media in India by providing digital infrastructure as a core utility for every citizen, governance and services on demand.

Sanitation Programme (CRSP) which solely focussed on sanitation was introduced. The first nationwide centrally sponsored programme aimed to provide safe sanitation in rural areas. Since the programme did not address the question of Open Defecation, it did not provide desired results.

In 1999, Total Sanitation Campaign (TSC) with a vision to eliminate open defecation by 2017 was launched. This was followed by the launch of Nirmal Gram Puraskar, Sampurna Swachh Abhiyan and Swachh Bharat Mission (Gramin) and other initiatives to strengthen the TSC. In 2006, TSC was merged with Indira Awas Yojana (IAY), thus a flagship scheme under the Ministry of Rural Development which addressed rural housing needs by giving financial assistance for the construction of improved dwelling units for Below Poverty Line (BPL) families. The convergence allowed the use of funds for the construction of sanitary toilets in IAY houses.

Toilets were constructed in large numbers, but the quality of construction remained a concern. The scheme focused on changing the behaviour at the ground level in the promotion of usage of toilets. Many households who had started using toilets slipped back to defecating in the open.

In 2012, the centre launched ‘Swachh Bharat Abhiyan’ (SBA), with the objective of 100 per cent access to toilets in rural households by 2022. SBA was launched in conjunction with Mahatma Gandhi National Rural Employment Guarantee Act (MGNREGA). SBA was an update of TSC with renewed strategies and modified guidelines and objectives to accelerate sanitation coverage in the rural areas.

Despite the widely accepted fact related to the critical importance of maintaining personal hygiene, the sanitation coverage of India was as low as 39 per cent till 2014. Around 50 crore people in India lacked access to a toilet facility before 2014. This was severely impacting the health, and also the dignity of people, especially of women and children. Open defecation was regarded as a matter of national shame, but it was an often-ignored subject which was not raised in public discussion.

In 2014, Prime Minister Narendra Modi led government reviewed and introduced ‘Swachh Bharat Mission (SBM)’ and introduced two sub-missions – Swachh Bharat Mission (Urban) and Swachh Bharat Mission (Gramin) and Swachh Bharat Mission (Urban). While the prime focus of the NAB was to improve the sanitation conditions in the rural regions of the country, SBM took urban areas in its ambit through construction of public toilets across cities and towns. SBM, the subsidy provided by the government for the construction of Individual Household Toilets (IHT) was increased from Rs 10,000 to Rs 12,000.

The SBM was approved on September 24, 2014, and took effect from October 2, 2014. The goal was to achieve clean and Open Defecation Free (ODF) India by the 150th birth anniversary of Mahatma Gandhi on October 2, 2019. To make India ODF, the target was set to construct 67 lakh individual household toilets and 5 lakh community toilets in urban areas. For the rural areas, where the sanitation coverage was merely 36.7 per cent at the time of launch of the scheme, the aim was to bring it up to 100 per cent.

“A clean India would be the best tribute India could pay to the Father of the Nation on his birth anniversary in 2019,” said Shri Narendra Modi after launching the Swachh Bharat Mission in Ranchi in New Delhi on October 2, 2014. While leading the mass movement for cleanliness, Prime Minister Modi exhorted people to fulfill their “duty of a clean and hygienic India.”

The Prime Minister himself has been the chief motivator, connecting sanitation with human dignity and integrity. He personally wrote to all 300,000 Gram Panchayats mobilizing them to ensure that every village achieves sanitation services. Anybody who volunteered for the Swachh Bharat Mission was called Swachhagrahi by the Prime Minister. This symbolizes the enthusiasm to the Satyagraha swachhagraghwa campaign.

Over 12 crore school children, 6.25 lakh schoolchildren, 2.5 lakh sarpanches, millions of citizens and around 50 brand ambassadors of Swachh Bharat were members of Swachh Bharat. It was regularly mobilized community members for toilet construction and its usage. The Prime Minister equated Swachhata Mission with the Swachhata Hi Seva campaign which transformed into a Jan Andolan connecting political workers, youth, religious community leaders, NGOs, SHGs, and community members.

The campaign effectively utilized modern technology for comprehensive monitoring. Each toilet in every village was mapped on the Integrated Management Information System for a real-time progress report. Every toilet was mandatorily geolocated for effective tracking in the entire process. The Information, Education and Communication (IEC) division of Swachh Bharat Mission was responsible for overall dimension to the government dialogue. The iconic campaigns like Darwaza Bandh, Saaf Naah to Maaf Naah that were launched connected citizens across rural India.

The government made a provision of Rs 12,000 per toilet as financial incentive for the construction and its usage. Over the five years of SBM-G, the government allocated over Rs 1.3 lakh crore and ensured that its funds under ‘Swachh Bharat Mission (Gramin), 10.28 crore toilets have been constructed in 36 states and Union Territories declared ODF in five years.

India was declared ODF in 2019. Rural sanitation coverage of almost 100% has been achieved, and all types of toilets facilities to all villagers and their motivation to use toilets. On the occasion of the 150th birth anniversary of Mahatma Gandhi, all 320 districts, states, and Union Territories declared themselves ODF. As a result of the Swachh Bharat Mission, 55 crore people have been positively impacted in their daily behaviour and started using toilets.

With the attainment of Swachh Bharat, there has been a significant reduction in water and sanitation related diseases. SBM has resulted in an annual saving of more than Rs 80,000 per household in rural India. After becoming ODF, many villages have seen a reduction in the number of deaths due to diseases like diarrhoea, malaria etc. Child health and nutrition have also improved.

In 2014, Government of India launched ‘Swachh Bharat Swachh Vayalaya’ initiative to enable children and help them have access to separate functional toilets for boys and girls. Achieving an ODF India in record time also meant that the Swachh Bharat Mission became the Sustainable Development Goal (SDG) aimed at sanitation for all a whopping 10 years before the global target of 31 December 2030.

In February 2020, the government approved Phase-II of the SBM (G) with a total mobilized community. The government is focusing on the sustainability of ODF status and Solid and Liquid Waste Management (SLWM). Swachh Bharat Mission in Phase-II is focused on moving towards ODF plus that includes overall cleanliness in villages, and solid and liquid waste management in rural India. Apart from budgetary allocation from the Department of Water and Sanitation (DDWS) and the corresponding State share, remaining funds will be dovetailed from 15th Finance Commission grants to Rural Local Bodies, Mahatma Gandhi National Rural Employment Guarantee Scheme (MGNREGS), Corporate Social Responsibility (CSR) funds, and revenue generation models, etc., particularly for SLWM.

The DDWS is working to identify new decentralized and cost-effective technology solutions to support in cleaning and rejuvenating water bodies in rural areas, grey water faecal sludge management, single use plastic waste management, animal waste management towards realizing the concept of Waste to Wealth. The main focus of Gobardhan Scheme by DDWS is keeping villages clean, increasing the income of Rural households, and generation of energy and organic manure from cattle waste.

Two flagship programmes, SBM-Urban and Aatma for Rejuvenation and Urban Transformation (AMURT) have contributed significantly to improving urban landscape during the last seven years. The two missions have augmented the capacity to deliver basic services of water supply and sanitation to the citizens. Swachhata has become a Jan Andolan. All urban local bodies have been declared ODF and 70% solid waste is being scientifically processed now. AMURT has been ensuring water security by adding 1.1 crore household water tap connections and 85 lakh sewer connections, thus benefiting more than 4.4 crore people.

On October 1, 2021, Prime Minister Narendra Modi launched SBM-U 2.0 and AMURT 2.0 which have been designed to realize the aspiration to make all our cities ‘Garbage Free’ and ‘Water Secure’. These flagship Missions signify a step forward in our march towards effectively addressing the challenges of a rapidly urbanizing India and also help contribute towards achieving UN Sustainable Development Goals 2030.

Scope of Energy Efficiency in MSMEs

Interview: Shri Milind Deore, Director, BEE

India, the third-largest consumer of primary energy, faces the twin challenge of fulfilling its economic aspirations at the same time as it tries to protect its environment and meet climate change objectives. A potent strategy for India that can help in achieving both these objectives is that of energy efficiency. The Government of India has adopted various policy measures to enhance the energy efficiency of its industrial and household sector.

Employment News spoke with Shri Milind Deore, Director, Bureau of Energy Efficiency (BEE), Ministry of Power, Government of India, about the government’s roadmap for the MSME’s transition to efficient and clean energy while ensuring higher global competitive-ness.

Question: India has the second largest MSME community globally after China with an ambitious and impressive growth trajectory. What does this sector figure in India’s energy conservation agenda?

Milind Deore: Micro, Small and Medium Enterprises (MSMEs) account for 28% of India’s GDP and 45% of the country’s manufacturing output. After agriculture, the MSME sector provides the largest employment in India. The total energy consumption of the industrial MSME clusters was estimated to be 68 mtoe in 2017 which is expected to increase to more than 170 mtoe by 2031. As a result, MSME has been at the forefront of energy conservation agenda of the Government of India. Several programmes have been undertaken over the years by the Bureau of Energy Efficiency and the Ministry of MSME to promote energy conservation and technology upgradation of MSMEs. These initiatives include National Manufacturing Competitiveness Programme (NMCP), Credit Linked Capital Subsidy for Technology Upgradation (CLCSS), Technology and Quality Upgradation Support to MSMEs (TEQUP), BEE SME Programme, GET-“INDO- BEE” Programme, GET-“WAP- BEE” Programme, SIDSBI Project and Energy Mapping of MSME clusters among others. The adoption of energy efficient technologies in MSMEs can lead to 14% reduction in annual energy demand of the MSME sector. This will translate to MSMEs becoming more globally competitive with improved quality of production.

Question: What are the major challenges faced by small businesses in identifying, adapting and adopting better technologies and operating practices to ensure energy efficiency?

Milind Deore: The small businesses have limited accessibility to modern efficient technologies and weak linkages with suppliers. Consequently, they use the conventional technologies used by other units in the cluster and which have established operating practices. They lack the knowledge about modern energy efficient technologies. Further, they also have limited capability to understand the complex, varied and integrated nature of these technologies related to violating their cost-benefit. The force of habits also leads to resistance against any change which is exacerbated by the unavailability of training the labour. The high upfront cost of EE technologies and cost-sapping policy of banks and FIs also proves to be a major challenge for access to financing for MSME units.

Question: What is the main focus of BEE’s MSME energy efficiency programme? Financial incentives, energy pricing or technical solutions?

Milind Deore: Building a short- and long-term roadmap of interventions with specific sectoral focus is presently among the key areas of orientation of the BEE’s MSME energy efficiency programme. The roadmap would need to be developed to holistically include the various aspects related to energy efficiency in the MSME sector including technical solutions like promoting common facility centers and technology demonstrations; financial incentives to promote EE technology adoption and skill development and awareness creation aspects. Under this study, BEE is ensuring the readiness of the sector for adoption of identified EE technologies. The bench-marks are thus being developed through multiple industry interactions and consultations as well. Sectoral roadmaps can be conducted across clusters were crucial for dissemination of the EE technologies and best operating practices to help them to evaluate their performance and scope for energy savings. The consultation with MSME stakeholders resulted in identified technologies of the several technical, financial, and regulatory barriers to adoption of EE technologies. In addition, policy recommendations and plans for their implementation were made to address the identified challenges.

Question: MSMEs have been struggling for long to reduce their input costs to make their products viable in the competitive market. Does energy management constitute a strong way to cut cost reduction and is it a sustainable approach?

Milind Deore: The MSME units have three major costs - raw material, labour and energy. The raw material costs are dictated largely by the price of the labour costs, on the other hand, are dictated by the labour laws and minimum wages in addition to the labour market trends. Furthermore, as the work environments in MSMEs are often harsh, they are facing labour shortages as the workers are moving towards better work environments in cities in malls and commercial establishments. The energy cost can vary from 5 to 25% depending on industrial MSME sub-sectors. The energy conservation measures (ECMs) can reduce these costs and are often a critical element of the firm’s direct costs. Further, these measures often also lead to additional benefit of reduction in raw material consumption and associated costs. Some of the ECMs can also improve the working environment by reducing noise and improving the health of the workers as well as improve their overall productivity. Thus, energy conservation by adopting a sustainable approach for production, can also improve the global competitiveness of the MSME units.

However, in recent years, the focus on digital media has grown because of the digital revolution and every media department is designing course curriculum with special emphasis on digital media skills that covers its various aspects. Teaching and learning involves theoretical as well as practical aspects of digital media in which industrial training or internship is an important aspect that provides the students’ exposure to working in various media and corporate houses. Further, the trend from generalization to specialization has also increased the demand for specialized programs in digital media. Some of the renowned institutions/universities where one can understand theory and praxis of digital media are:

- Indian Institute of Mass Communication (IIMC), New Delhi.

Ultracentrifugal Force

Ultracentrifugal Force is a force exerted on a particle that is in solution and moving through a centrifugal field. The force is proportional to the particle's mass and the square of the centripetal acceleration, which is determined by the distance of the particle from the axis of rotation.

Ultracentrifugal Force is important in the field of biochemistry and biophysics, as it can be used to study the behavior of macromolecules such as proteins and nucleic acids. It is often used to assess the molecular weight and size distribution of these molecules.

Ultracentrifugal Force is calculated using the following formula:

F = m * a^2

where F is the ultracentrifugal force, m is the mass of the particle, and a is the centripetal acceleration.

Ultracentrifugal Force is an important tool in the determination of the structure and function of biological macromolecules.

The Indian Army is involved in effectively countering both military and non-military facets of asymmetric and sub-conventional threats, emerging from within and outside the country.

Every year, the Indian Army celebrates 15th January as ‘Army Day’ to commemorate the day when Lieutenant General (later Field Marshal) KM Cariappa took over the command of Army from General Sir FRR Bucher, the last British Commander-in-Chief in 1949 and became the first Commander-in-Chief of Indian Army post Independence.

To commemorate this important moment in the country’s history, Army Command headquarters in Delhi and other parts of India organise parades. The Cariappa Parade Ground at Delhi Cantt. sees the main event.

Who was KM Cariappa?

Field Marshal KM Cariappa, fondly known as ‘Kipper’, was born on 28th January, 1900 in Mercara state, now called Karnataka. He received the King’s Commission in 1919 with the first group of Indian cadets, and in 1933, was the first Indian officer to join Staff College. Quetta. In 1942, Lt Col KM Cariappa raised the 7th Rajput Machine Gun Battalion (now 17 Rajput). In 1946, as a Brigadier, he joined the Imperial Defence College, UK. Recalled from the UK to serve as a member of the Army Sub Committee of the Forces Reconstitution Committee, during the partition, he achieved an amicable settlement for the division of the army between India and Pakistan. He was conferred the rank of Field Marshal on April 28, 1946.

The underlying theme is to blur Pakistan-sponsored anti-India propaganda and facilitate all around development of the State based on a participative model involving the local people, Army and the civil administration. Accordingly, the core of Operation Sadbhavana theme generates around aspirations of local populace and India’s national interest.

COVID-19 Response

The Indian Army has been at the forefront of COVID response at the national level and played a pivotal role in mitigating the sufferings of the people. Right from rescuing stranded Indians from COVID-19 affected areas, such as China, Iran, Italy, Malaysia, etc, to providing relief materials to all across the country, Armed Forces have put in place all its medical and manpower resources. The Indian Army deployed several of its medical and paramedical staff for supporting civil hospitals in management of COVID-19. The Army also created a number of facilities on a war footing in order to provide extensive medical assistance at a number of places. In another initiative, a COVID Tele-consultancy and Information Management Cell was functioning 24x7 rendering medical advice as well as information about admitted patients with due sensitivity.

Disaster Mitigation and Rescue Operations

The Indian Army actively assists the civil administration as part of Humanitarian Assistance and Disaster Relief operations. The Army deploys Task Forces, comprising infantry, engineers, communication, recovery and medical teams and conducts rescue and relief operations wherever necessary in the face of natural disasters.

Make in India

‘Make in India’ and ‘Amarinibhar Bharat’ have been given a major impetus during planning and procurement of equipment for the Indian Army, wherein, there is an effort to support the emerging defence industry in the country. With its extensive range of equipment spanning a vast technological spread, it is a key entity in facilitating the ‘Make in India’ pursuit, a success. A comprehensive and persistent, focused coordination with the industry towards development of the artillery guns, ammunition to enhance its long range precision firepower and mobility and future combat vehicles to provide sustained mobility to the combat arms, is being pursued. Architecture for providing capabilities of cyber warfare, space warfare and special operations have been bolstered with modern equipment and technology-driven systems.

Quantum Technology

With the use of emerging technologies, the Indian Army is making steady, yet significant strides when it comes to technology domains. With the due support from the National Security Council Secretariat (NSCS), the Army has established a Quantum Lab at Military College of Telecommunication Engineering, Mhow (Madhya Pradesh) to lead research and training in this key developing field. France hits Google, Facebook with Euro 210 million in fines
French regulators have hit Google and Facebook with 210 million euros (237 million dollars) in fines over their use of cookies, the data used to track users online. US tech giants, including the likes of Apple and Amazon, have come under growing pressure over their businesses practices across Europe, where they have faced massive fines and plans to impose far-reaching EU rules on how they operate. The Euro 150-million fine imposed on Google was a record by France’s National Commission for Information Technology and Freedom (CNIL), beating a previous cookie-related fine of Euro 100 million against the company in December 2020. Facebook was handed a 60 million-euro fine. CNIL has determined that the sites facebook.com, google.fr and (Google-owned) youtube.com do not allow users to use the use of the cookies as simply as to accept them, the regulatory body said. The two platforms have three months to adapt their practices, after which France will impose fines of Euro 100,000 per day. Google told a news agency that it would change its practices following the ruling.
